Reading

1 Read and circle the best title for the story.

a. Running in Races

b. Acting in Plays

c. Facing Your Fears

One day, Alex was sitting in the school yard when Sarah ran up to him. She looked excited. "Hey, Alex!" said Sarah. "There's a new drama club starting next week. It's called Amazing Actors. Have you ever acted in a play?"

"No, I haven't," Alex replied. "I get very nervous when I stand in front of people."

Sarah looked surprised. "But you go to the athletics club every week," she said. "Running is harder than acting. I get scared every time I run in a race!"

"No! Running is easier because you don't have to say anything," said Alex. "Look how easy running is!" He ran around the yard three times.

Sarah laughed and said, "I have an idea. My grandmother always says that we should do things even when we feel nervous."

"OK. So I should go to the drama club," said Alex. "And I should go to the athletics club," said Sarah. "Let's do it! I don't want to be scared of running anymore!"

The following week, Alex and Sarah joined their new clubs. They had fun and they learned new skills. Now Sarah is running in the state finals race, and Alex has the major role in the Christmas play!

2 Read again and answer the questions.
